Timp Myth To be Told Thru Music

"The Bleeding Heart," the operatic legend of Timpanogos, will be presented Wednesday through Saturday of next week in the Joseph Smith Auditorium.

Curtain time for the opera written by William F. Hansen, assistant professor emeritus of music, is 8:15 p.m.

TICKETS are available daily from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. at the ticket office in the Joseph Smith Bldg. Students may obtain tickets free upon presentation of their activity card.

"The Bleeding Heart," based on a fictional legend by E. L. Roberts, is a four-act opera which centers around Utahna, daughter of an Indian chief. She is chosen to be sacrificed to the mountain-god Timpanogos in order to end the drought which has been afflicting the tribe.

RED EAGLE, blinded by his love for Utahna, deceives her into believing he is Timpanogos by masquerading as the mountain-god. She saves her life and takes her to live in a cave high on the mountain.

Still the drought continues and the priests decide to search out the mountain-god in order to save the people. The priests find Red Eagle and Utahna in the mountain cave, and in a battle which follows, Red Eagle is wounded.

SEEKING the blood, Utahna discovers that he is not the mountain-god but her mortal lover. Realizing the importance of the sacrifice which she has not completed, she is torn between her love for Red Eagle and her sense of duty and love for her people.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following memo was received by Studentbody President David Stone from Dean of Students J. Elliot Cameron, yesterday afternoon. A later story in the Universe edition. The memo is being published as the studentbody may read the official administration decision.

I appreciated receiving your memo of November 21 with the information regarding comments on Christmas vacation and also the additional supporting evidence which you have brought to my office.

On Tuesday this matter was discussed with the Administrative Council and yesterday (Wednesday) afternoon I had the opportunity to open the matter again with the President to talk about the possibility of extending the Christmas vacation period.

There are many factors which are considered in establishing a calendar for a given year, not the least of which is the matter of student employment for the summer vacation period. At the time the calendar is drawn the opening and closing dates of other institutions is considered as well as the amount of time required in class in order to retain full accreditation. The schedule is accordingly drawn so that students have the opportunity to work until the latest possible date in the fall and also be available in the spring of the year for jobs which may become available. I know personally that last spring other college students in this vicinity complained bitterly because most positions were taken by BYU students since they were out of school a week before other institutions. In light of these many factors and the serious consideration which was given to the calendar at the time it was prepared, the current decision is to retain the existing Christmas vacation schedule with the recognition that some students will, of course, be inconvenienced but that in the interest of the total program it seems wise to retain the existing schedule.

The mature way in which this matter was presented made it possible for the entire administration to consider the issues. There are so many factors which have a bearing on this kind of decision that I will be glad to discuss this with you at your convenience.

Film, Dance Will Honor Grid Heros

A film featuring the highlights of the year's football games will be one of the special parts of Friday night's concert.

"NEW HORIZONS," the 3-D's Concert at 8 p.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse, is a new event this year. Sponsored by AMS and Holman Halls, the program will spotlight the entire BYU football team for its outstanding performance.

The program, for the first time, is open to the public, students and faculty. In past years only special people have been invited to the programs honoring the team.

Will Whittle, vice president of Student Relations, will present awards to the team. Eldon "The Phantom" Forlie's jersey, the familiar number 40, will be retired to honor BYU's all American star player.

VICE PRESIDENT of Social Activities, Orion Wood, will emcee the program which will feature the 3-D's. Entertainment will run from slapstick comedy to semi-classical music.

After-concert dances will be held in the East Gym, Lars Yorgason's group playing, and in the Smith Family Living Center, Bill Hansen's group playing. Admission is 50 cents per person.

Dean of Students Faces Questions on Vacation

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following questions and answers are taken from an interview with Dean of Students C. Elliot Cameron by Universe Editor Max Friedman.

Q. Dean Cameron, what are some of the reasons the administration has decided not to extend the Christmas vacation?

A. There are three main reasons: The first is that in the program originally established there are many phases of university coordination to consider other than the structure of the day-student academic schedule. These considerations include the extension division, the maintenance program, academic programs, etc.

The second reason is that we have had to consider seriously the schedule in the getting up of the program for student employment for the summer vacation. We take into consideration those students working in national parks and when these parks open and close. We also consider the length of summer construction projects.

The third reason is that it would be detrimental to the students to eliminate those two scheduled school days at the close of the vacation period, because it would disrupt the already-outlined course procedures that must maintain the accreditation of the university.

Q. How many days are necessary to obtain accreditation for the university?

A. I have no specific information on the number of days required, but it could be that the number of weeks in attendance is as important as the number of days.

Q. How many class days were there in the 1961-62 academic year at BYU?

A. I don't know.

Q. We understand that if the vacation were extended by two days on the end of the holiday period, the total number of class days in this school year would be 161, the same as is scheduled for next year. Is this correct?

A. Yes, that is correct.

Q. Why, then, does the question of the extra two days conflict with the university's accreditation?

A. Again it may be a matter of the weeks involved in the amount of education, part weeks or full weeks.

We have received many calls from transportation facilities informing us that they could not effectively transport students away from the university at a date earlier than the one already scheduled. Also the administration must consider what day of the week the holiday falls on.

Finally, the administration must consider the fact that the academic schedule is a contract between Brigham Young University and the students.

Need Vacation

Editor, Daily Universe:

Of late there has been a great deal of concern on the part of the BYU student body, and I am certain an equal amount of consternation facing the administration, when all are confronted by what has apparently been an oversight by the high echelons. Of course, I am referring to the holiday break. Following, I would then point out several facets of this milestone.

Upon entering the bookstore early in the semester, I was impressed by a budget book that apparently is esteemed by President Wilkinson. Therein, the President stressed thrift and earning power; thus, I would assume that he would encourage as many students as possible to take advantage of any employment during the ensuing season. Many students have procured such employment, but will be of only nominal value to their employers if they are held in Provo too long. This consideration alone should castigate the opinion of some (whose motives I question) that the vacation should be extended further into January.

Glancing at the intangible advantages of a lengthened period of physical, mental and spiritual reconstitution, one can only say that it is a long time from January to June. I am convinced that the brief Easter respite isn't ample for the recuperation of all. This is written in all humility; but indeed, with all hope that the brief Easter respite isn't the best upon which this most important decision rests will find, at least in part, the views expressed herein sufficient cause for taking the suggested course of action.

C. Patrick Bates

Narrowminded

Editor, Daily Universe:

I have never, to the best of my knowledge, seen such a blatant exhibition of poor breeding, gross ignorance, and blatant intolerance as was evidenced by the conduct of a group of so-called mature, educated people at the Monday performance of "Quo Vadis" (a reasonably sincere religious picture), shown at the University Cinema. It did not seem to me, or to a small minority present, that it was necessary to greet a baptism by sprinkling or the sign of the cross as made by the Apostle Peter with loud shrieks, groans, derogatory remarks, and generally repulsive hilarity.

I don't think I can stress too greatly how such behavior would impress someone not a member of the Church. I know of at least one non-Mormon who left, not so much incensed or outraged as completely dumbfounded by the narrow-minded, prejudicial attitude of a group of people who claim to be the most enlightened on earth.

In some areas of this country, Mormons are derided and laughed at, which is regrettable but entirely understandable if their young people's conduct is such as it was Monday. Other people's beliefs may be different, but they may also be deeply held and cherished and it can only demean and make a mock of the whole work of the LDS Church if the attitude shown Monday is that of the coming generation of "true and practicing Christians."

Jr. Class Votes Today For President and Veep

Friday is the final day of voting for junior class officers, re-elected Bev McKnight, elections chairman.

Ballot officers will require voters to present their activity cards. Also, voters' names will be checked in the student directory to verify that the voters are seniors.

RESULTS will be announced Friday at 12 p.m. in 170 Clark Student Service Center.

Dancers . . .

IN THE AREAS of Scottish, Ukrainian, Mexican and Spanish areas, qualified soloists will perform under the direction of Mrs. Jensen.

The majority of the dances on this year's program were brought directly from the University of the Pacific at Stockton, Calif., and the University of California at Santa Barbara, Calif., by five scholarship winning BYU folk dancers.

Gary Hopkinson, DeWayne Young, Susan Hanson, Darlene Bell and LeAnn Gage in addition to Mrs. Jensen worked under instructors of national and world fame this summer to the advantage of the folk dancers. IN ADDITION to authentically correct dancing, Mrs. Jensen did the folk dancers will wear colorful and authentic costumes used upon considerable research. Presently, folk dancers are sending many hours preparing costumes and practicing dances for the Christmas program, designed to acquaint audiences with the Christmas customs of various countries.

The International Folk Dancers are organized six years ago under the sponsorship of the Dept. of Physical Education.

Only fourteen students danced at first year, according to Mrs. Jensen. Nearly ten times that many will dance this year.

MRS. JENSEN reports that the 16 dancers now perform 90 to 100 shows per year and are on constant call to perform for high schools and various groups throughout the Intermountain area.

A select number of the folk dancers participate in a ten day tour four each year. According to Folk Dancing Student Coordinator Gary Hopkinson, yearly tours have taken the dancers across and around the nation from San Diego to Boston.

Not only do the International Folk Dancers encourage an "understanding and appreciation of our foreign neighbors," said Mrs. Jensen, "but they allow the spirit of the 'Y' to be taken throughout the country."

To have their names on the final ballot, all candidates must take a test on the ASBYU Constitution at 4:15 p.m. in 170 Clark Student Service Center Monday.

Final balloting will be Thursday and Friday of next week and results will be announced at 10 p.m. at the Community Chest Dance Dec. 7.

Provo's New Community Theatre Sets First Production for Saturday

Provo, who bore claim to the world's first Little Theatre group in the early 1870s, has added to its dramatic record the brand new Community Theatre.

Its first production begins this weekend with the melodrama, "Please Marry My Nellie." Co-featured with it is "Olio" a collection of short scenes, some of which were presented at the Homecoming Assembly.

PERFORMANCE begins Friday at 8:15 p.m. at Central Junior High Auditorium, 50 South 3rd West, in Provo. A Saturday matinee will be offered at 2 p.m. along with the 8:15 evening performance.

Producer for the Community Theatre, Buddy Younggreen, fostered this new group as a stepping stone between college drama and professional work with the main goal of promoting culture.

Other productions slated for this year are "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" and "Pinocchio," both children's plays. A family feature will be "The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker."

"PLEASE MARRY MY NELLIE" is being produced by prominent citizens of Utah County and directed by Younggreen. He is also appearing in "Nellie" as Jebidiah Jaundice, a dastardly villain. BYU students will remember him as the Scarecrow in the "Wizard of Oz" scene featured at Homecoming.

A senior from Los Angeles, Younggreen last year produced four plays and two assemblies. He has been interested in the theatre "since I first stood in line for kiddie shows," and he has done a great deal of entertainment both in the amateur and professional fields.

Lynne Younggreen, who is starring as Nellie, stars in private life as Mrs. Buddy Younggreen. She has previously had experience in community theatre plays, playing the lead in BYU's production of "Anne Frank."

NOEL TWITCHELL, who is Truman Goodblood, the brilliant young banker in the melodrama, scored at the Homecoming assembly with his "Honey Bun" coconut dance. He has appeared in the BYU production of "The Boyfriend," BYU's spring musical in which he won the award of Best Supporting Actor.

Ariel Bybee, starring as Sally Vation, the temperance leader in "Nellie," has appeared with Noel before—in "The Boy Friend" in 1962 and as the attractive sailor singing "Honey Bun" in the Homecoming assembly.

Gail Mortenson, a lonely widow named Fanny Lovelorn who is also the mother of Nellie, is familiar to BYU students for her rendition of "Over the Rainbow" at the Homecoming assembly.

Avid Wilden, performer in "Marriage of Figaro," "Arsenic and Old Lace" and many Mask Club productions, is gracing "Nellie" with his presence as "The Drunk, a poor fallen man."

'Surfing Hollow Days' To be Shown Saturday

A battle with sharks and burial under 40-foot waves are highlights of the popular "Surfing Hollow Days" color motion picture which comes to Provo High School Saturday at 7 and 9 p.m. Bruce Brown will personally narrate the film.

"Surfing Hollow Days" records the high adventures of some of the world's most noted surfers. Mr. Brown's pictures challenge tremendous waves off the coast of Hawaii, Australia and New Zealand. As the name implies, hollow waves (with gigantic crests) create ideal elements for surfboard riders. Phil Edwards is a featured surfer.

In his film, which also includes exciting scenes from Mexico, Australia and Florida for the first time, Mr. Brown has photographed surfers defying waves of such height that they would prove dangerous to any but the strongest swimmers.

Bruce Brown

Pictured are areas where even the "most expert" surfers have encountered near fatal dangers as they sought "rough water" to ride their boards at speeds up to 40 miles an hour toward the rugged shore.

"Surfing Hollow Days" is the most popular of four films by Mr. Brown, having been filmed after he successfully photographed "Slippery When Wet," "Surf Crazy" and "Barefoot Adventure."

Tickets for the Saturday evening shows are available at Rowley's.

Sports Around the Globe

by Bud Tolman

Baseball trades keep rolling this week and the Pirates of Pittsburgh appear to be well ahead in the hardball trading market.

THE PIRATES seem to want to trade everyone except the Ted Savage and Sanchez Herrera. Herrera was immediately sent to the Pirate's farm team in Columbus. Savage is a promising young ball-player. He is a past most valuable-player in the International League.

THREE COUGARS were recently named to Arizona's all opponent team. The Wildcats named Eddie Fortie, halfback, Val Weenig, tackle and Roger Du-Paix, guard to their all-star opposition team.

Others named to the squad were Missouri's Johnny Roland, halfback, Jim Vermillion, center, and Konrad Hatcher and George Seale, ends. Air Force placed two on the team; Terry Isaacson, quarterback and Bruce Kohl, guard.

THE OTHER members selected were Arizona State's tackle, John Seaborg and Kansas State's big fullback, Willis Crenshaw. Both Fortie and Roland were unanimous choices of the selectors.

Another big batch of rookies made the grade in the National Football League this season and an all-rookie team for 1962 is loaded with talent.

THE LOS ANGELES RAMS, Dallas Cowboys and Cleveland Browns dominate the 22-man big-league selected annually in this corner. There are standouts at every offensive and defensive position except quarterback where, as the pros rightfully insist, it's the experience that counts.

Ron Miller of the Rams rates team physician, and maybe he'll go too if they get a good offer. The Pirates' latest deal sent third-baseman Don Hoak to the Phillies in return for outfielders the quarterback edge over his teammate, Roman Gabriel, and Washington's Galen Hall largely because he was "exposed" to the enemy more often. Miller completed 17 of 43 passes for 290 yards and one touchdown in games to date.

THE RAMS played a total of four, Dallas and Cleveland three each in the top 2 listed herewith and their college affiliation in parentheses.

OFFENSE

Ends—Gary Collins (Marland) Cleveland and Steve Stonebraker (Detroit U.) Minnesota; tackles—Irvin Good (Kentucky) St. Louis and Joe Carolo (Notre Dame) Los Angeles; guards—Leon Donohue (San Jose State) Los Angeles and Pete Case (Georgia) Philadelphia; center—Mickey Tinglehoff (Nebraska) Minnesota; Quarterback—Miller; Halfbacks—Joe Womack (Los Angeles State) Pittsburgh and Ronnie Bull (Baylor) Chicago; fullback—Art Perkins (North Texas St.) Los Angeles.

DEFENSE

Ends—George Andrie (Marquette) Dallas and Ed O'Driscovich (Illinois) Chicago; tackles—Merlin Olsen (Utah State) Los Angeles and Gary Reese (Southern Methodist) Dallas; linebacksers—Bill Winter (St. Olaf) New York, Mike Lucet (Tennessee) Cleveland and Sam Tidmore (Ohio State) Cleveland; backs—Claude Crabbe (Colorado) Washington, Mike Gachter (Oregon) Dallas, Bill Triplett (Miami, Ohio) St. Louis and Wendell Harris (LSU) Baltimore.

SOUTHERN Mississippi, which aspires to ranking as a major football college, today was named the 1962 National Small College Football champion by the United Press International board of coaches.

The southerners, who won the title and the permanent trophy that goes with it in a close battle with Florida A & M, compiled a 9-1 record during 1962. Their only loss was an 8-6 decision to Memphis State, a major college.

Florida A & M fought hard for the title, and lost it by only 13 points. They picked up seven firsts for a total of 273 points. Central Oklahoma finished a distant third, 53 points behind the leaders. They managed three first place votes for 233 total points.

It was the second time Southern Mississippi has won the UPI coaches' national championship, the first being in 1958.

Rod "Doc" Kimball is a highly-traveled and well-liked member of the Cougar squad.

'Doc' Kimball Has Long Record As Cat Trainer

by Ted Brewster

To further acquaint the students of BYU with the men behind the scenes we would like to introduce the Cougars' athletic trainer, Rod Kimball.

ROD FIRST became the school athletic trainer in 1937 and has been a friend and an inspiration to Gato athletes for some 20 years. To many he is known as "Doc" Kimball and to the more bold he is known as the "Bald Eagle" for reasons that need no explaining.

Rod Kimball is a perfect example of man's efforts to better himself. He began his college education in 1929 at Utah State and received his graduation diploma in 1954 at BYU. This diploma was earned by carrying one course a semester or quarter while a member of the Y staff. Rod says, "The ten happiest years of my life were spent as a sophomore at BYU."

ROD'S EDUCATION was first interrupted by an LDS mission to the German-Austrian Mission and later by the job of raising a family of 12 children with two more being added after 1954.

In church service Brother Kimball has served the Church well. He has been a Bishop and served 10 years as a High Councilman in the Sharon Stake and at the present he is in his fourth year as a High Councilman in the West Sharon Stake.

AS THE ATHLETIC trainer "Doc" Kimball has become a world traveler. He has been to 45 of the 50 states and has traveled to Europe, South America, Hawaii and England. Of all his travels and experience Kimball says that the Y's winning of the NIT in 1951 was his greatest moment at BYU.

Rod, as athletic trainer, has the job of patching up the injured and keeping the fit fit. He can tape any muscle on the body and can out-massage a Giesha girl. Rod claims to have the most unusual view of the athletes, that being flat on their backs.

Doyle Seely

Merv White

Seely Serves As President's Exec. Assistant

Doyle Seely, a crewcut physical education major, is one of ASBYU President Dave Stone's executive assistants, one of the most responsible jobs in student government.

A GRADUATE student with a minor in guidance and counseling, Doyle is from San Diego.

Of marital status he says, "I'm free, unattached, single, available—and financially embarrassed."

He is a former Marine and has filled a mission to New England. At present he is on the Stake Sunday School Board for his stake.

His own special duties are to represent the executive council on the Senate. He also serves on the Rules Committee in the Senate. A second major responsibility is to conduct all correspondence for Dave Stone to students who have made outstanding achievements, among them the football player of the week.

DAVE STONE gives Doyle the credit for persuading him to run for ASBYU President.

Doyle currently is interested in the project of reshaping student government to fit into the plans of the Y Student Center. All student activities there will be handled by student government and present facilities are not extensive enough.

Psychologist Spends Time With Execs

Merv White is the other executive assistant, a reflective man who looks like a psychology major which he is with a minor in sociology.

A graduate student from Highland Home, Alabama, he totally lacks an accent.

HIS SPECIAL joy is in leadership, group dynamics and psychological research. He is currently carrying out a research project into the causes, treatment and prevention of juvenile delinquency at Pinshills.

As executive assistant Merv is in charge of receptions and banquets held for student body officers and athletic teams of visiting schools, the Fall Leadership Conference held in Jackson Hole this autumn and Freshman Orientation.

His yen for leadership is further exercised in his position of special assistant to the BYU State superintendency of the MIA. One project is the Era drive (which accounts for the piles of copies on his desk) and the leadership and teacher training program. Here he delivers a monthly address to MIA executives at the stake meeting on leadership or teacher training.

Merv feels that BYU has a destiny to produce leaders capable of developing the individual to his fullest extent.

National Music Association Promotes BYU; Three Other Schools Receive Full Membership

BYU was promoted to full membership in the National Association of Schools of Music last week at the 38th annual meeting of the association. Dr. Crawford Gates, chairman of the Music Dept., represented the school at the meeting, held in Cincinnati, Ohio.

BYU became an associate member of NASM at the annual meeting in 1958 and received the report of its being granted full membership at the opening session of the Cincinnati meeting.

Membership of the association has included 264 universities, colleges and conservatories in the United States. Nine new schools were admitted to membership at the meeting, and four schools were promoted from associate full membership.

The NASM is designated by the National Commission on Accrediting as the responsible agency for the accreditation of music degree curricula. The work of the association has an important bearing on the continual development of music in America.

Basketball Starts Long Season Against Ducks

most before football has had time to clear the field, basketball bounces onto the sports scene at HYU this weekend when Cougars open the roundball season with two games against W.

THE SEASON ice-breaker, ever, will find the Cougars on the road. The two games with ducks are scheduled for Friday and Saturday night in the Tipoff both nights will p.m. (M.S.T.)

with Stan Watts and 14 members of this year's squad will fly to Provo Thursday at 1 p.m. charter flight.

AN ENLARGED travel roster entails Watts with an opportunity to use any one of several combinations in the Oregon game.

starting team composed of center John Lewis (6-7) at center, Bob Quinney (6-4) and Jim (6-3) at forward, and Batchelor (5-11) and Mike (6-4) at guard was used

Friday night in the scrimmage with the frosh. But Watts may juggle this lineup before the tip-off Friday night.

QUINNEY and Gardner are both sophomores, while Kelson and Batchelor are both regulars from last year's squad. Lewis, who has a slight edge over the other center candidates at the moment, is a transfer from Riverside Junior College.

Actually, all of last year's starters are back in the fold. Bruce Burton, who did a commendable job in the post last season, has been moved back to forward.

THERE IS good depth on the forward and guard lines, but the Cats seem to need consistent scoring as much as they need reserve strength. Center remains a question mark, although sophomore Lou Andreus is pressing Lewis for the starting berth.

Despite their reserve strength, the varsity had to struggle to beat the frosh last weekend, 92-83, in a season preliminary.

Grapplers Show Promise For Coming Mat Season

The Cougar grappling squad under the able direction of coach Clint Whitfield will swing into full gear Monday when the practice sessions will be lengthened and the workout schedule will toughen in an attempt to prepare for the season opener January 4.

Whitfield has taken the reigns full-time now with the close of the football season, and will be supervising the eager group of grunts-and-grainers in what should prove to be the toughest grappling slate ever for the Cougar forces.

In unofficial workouts this fall several of the mat forces have shown well. Steve Goodsell, heavyweight captain, looks like a strong contender in the defense of the Skyline championship. Lynn Mullenau, a returning letterman in the 191-pound division, should add strength to that weight.

Jim Jory, a sophomore letterman in the 177-pound division, has been out with a wrenched knee and will see only limited action in the next few weeks. Ron Gilbert, another returnee in the 107-pound class has looked impressive thus far.

Kim and Ted Brewster transfers in the 137-147-pound divisions respectively have shown well in the pre-season workouts. Larry Hardin, another transfer, and defending AAU 127-pound champ will be a man to contend with in his division.

Mac Motokawa leads an impressive list of frosh aspirants in what should prove to be a real battle for the top slot in many weights predominated by the first year men. Motokawa will compete in the 130-pound class.

Others showing well are Harvey Wynn, Dennis Herndon, Mike Hart, Bob Flger, Gary Smiley, Joe Lyman, Monte Jones, and Steve Epperson.

With continued improvement coach Whitfield is optimistic about the chances of the mat crew.

Need Aid With Studies? Contact Tutoring Office

Tutoring help is available again this year through the Tutoring Service, according to Mark Larsen, Tutoring Service director.

During the 1961-62 school year approximately 300 students sought assistance from the department.

"Nearly all those students who sought tutoring after failing the Junior English Proficiency Exam subsequently passed it," said Mr. Larsen.

THE SUBJECTS for which most students requested assistance were math, English and chemistry. Over three-fourth of the students felt that tutoring had been helpful, according to Mr. Larsen.

Contrary to what many might think, students with low grades are not the only ones who seek help from tutors. According to Mr. Larsen, approximately 15 percent of the students who were tutored had cumulative grade-point averages above 3.0.

"BEFORE a student considers obtaining the assistance of a tutor he should avail himself of the opportunities available to him from his instructor and the department the instructor represents," said Mr. Larsen.

Information on available tutors may be obtained by contacting the Academic Standards office in A-215 Student Administration Building, ext. 2695.
